

Trainer Profile

Rupert Munton

Nationality: United Kingdom

Languages: English

Rupert Munton is an Executive Coach at ClarkMorgan Corporate Training with 19 years of international management experience, including 10 years of training delivery in China.

Rupert has held senior management positions in the U.K, U.S, Asia and the Middle East, in areas as diverse as the military, H.R, sales and manufacturing. In addition, Rupert holds a B.A. in Arabic and International Relations.

Rupert is responsible for managing a team of full time trainers from a variety of nationalities, including American, Australian, British and Chinese. This role also includes maintaining quality control of training, as well as assisting in the development of trainers.

Leadership Skills Expert

Prior to joining ClarkMorgan, Rupert was a British Army Officer, having graduated from the Royal Military Academy of Sandhurst. After leaving the military, he became an HR Director in Israel before joining the ClarkMorgan team in China.

Rupert is a prolific writer, and has had his articles on leadership published in NetworkHR magazine and third party Chinese media.

Rupert's Clients:

DAIMLER

Danfoss

HSBC

 DELSEY™

SIEMENS